To Whom It May Concern,

I recently hired Boris as the headlining entertainment at a PartSource Conference. The conference had a heavy business component, and we hired Boris to provide comic relief to a group of burnt out employees.

From the moment I first reached out to Boris, the interaction was easy and enjoyable. His quick response time and eager attitude made the process very smooth for me as the event planner. As for his performance – Boris had the entire crowd engaged the entire performance. His performance was hilarious!

Our closing ceremony for the conference was a variety of business presentations. I knew I had made the right entertainment choice when people were still talking about Boris on Friday (he performed on Wednesday)! I would highly recommend Boris to anyone who is looking for laughter and ease with planning.

Thank you,
